B.J. McGlone & Co., Inc. Wins Excellence in Construction Award

Presented by DISCA (Drywall Interior Systems Contractors Association) the 2013 Excellence in Construction Award was accepted by B.J. McGlone & Co., Inc. for its work performed at the Lundbeck Neuroscience Building. The project involved renovation to the 100,000 square foot existing facility along with a 15,000 square foot two story addition. McGlone's work included cold-formed metal framing and sheathing applied to the exterior of the building. At the interior McGlone installed metal framing, foam insulation, drywall, tape and spackle, and acoustical ceilings. Work on the roof required demolition, temporary OSHA protection, and installation of new skylights. Specialty items included overhead coiling door, stiles steel pass-thru chambers, Metro-Starys wall cabinets, aluminum blinds, metal and aluminum fascia panels, dock levelers, toilet accessories, doors, hollow metal frames, hardware, casework, stainless steel laboratory handrails and crash rails, lockers, revolving dark rooms, handicapped accessible ramps, signage, wood sills corner guards, column covers, Shred-it-Security console and chemical resistant sealants and caulks.
